

Gail Glenn – Director

Currently I am in full time practice of psychoanalysis and psychotherapy and serve/teach on the faculty of the Saint Louis Psychoanalytic Institute.

I am life time volunteer in the community from the public school systems, to nonprofit organizations, such as: Cancer Support Network, Pedal the Cause, Habitat for Humanity, Life Skills, Gateway 180, Girls on the Run, projects in the Jewish Community and the Saint Louis Psychoanalytic Institute. No stranger to public speaking , I have lectured both nationally and internationally on a variety of subjects, to name just a few: diversity, education, parenting, mid life transitions, prejudice and living in a world of uncertainty. Married with two children and four grandchildren.

My passions include helping others, teaching, spending time with family and friends and staying healthy. In my spare time, I enjoy cooking, reading, gardening, walking with friends and traveling,

I look forward to making a contribution to the Parkinson's Board.
